3. Payment shall be made of all or such part of the purchase money as may be required, and the names and addresses of the purchasers shall be given immediately on the sale of every lot, in default of which the lot so purchased shall be immediately put up again and re-sold.

Payment of that part of the purchase money not made at the time of sale shall be made within ten days thereafter, in default of which the undersigned may either continue to hold the lots at the risk of the purchaser and take such action as may be necessary for the enforcement of the sale, or may at public or private sale, and without other than this notice, re-sell the lots for the benefit of such purchaser, and the deficiency (if any) arising from such re-sale shall be a charge against such purchaser.

4. Delivery of any purchase will be made only upon payment of the total amount due for all purchases at the sale.

Deliveries will be made on sales days between the hours of 9 A. M. and 1 P. M., and on other days—except holidays—between the hours of 9 A. M. and 5 P. M.

5. Shipping, boxing or wrapping of purchases is a business in which the Association is in no wise engaged, and will not be performed by the Association for purchasers. The Association will, however, afford to purchasers every facility for employing at current and reasonable rates carriers and packers; doing so, however, without any assumption of responsibility on its part for the acts and charges of the parties engaged for such service.

6. Storage of any purchase shall be at the sole risk of the purchaser. Title passes upon the fall of the auctioneer's hammer, and thereafter, while the Association will exercise due caution in caring for and delivering such purchase, it will not hold itself responsible if such purchase be lost, stolen, damaged or destroyed.

Storage charges will be made upon all purchases not removed within ten days from the date of the sale thereof.

7. Guarantee is not made either by the owner or the Association of the correctness of the description, genuineness or authenticity of any lot, and no sale will be set aside on account of any incorrectness, error of cataloguing, or any imperfection not noted. Every lot is on public exhibition one or more days prior to its sale, after which it is sold "as is" and without recourse.

The Association exercises great care to catalogue every lot correctly, and will give consideration to the opinion of any trustworthy expert to the effect that any lot has been incorrectly catalogued, and, in its judgment, may either sell the lot as catalogued or make mention of the opinion of such expert, who thereby would become responsible for such damage as might result were his opinion without proper foundation.

Formerly in the collection (No. 71) of pictures sold by Edward Brandus, April 2, 1908.

Reproduced, from the engraving by Roland, by C. Blanc at p. 3 of the chapter on Marten de Vos in the volume on the "Ecole Flamande" of the "Histoire des Peintres," 1864. The title there given it is the rather strange one of "Paon et Syrenx." In matter of style it seems to approach the works of Paul de Vos (1590-1678). Perhaps to some such work as this may be traced the genesis of the "Infant Bacchus pressing the Juice of the Grape into the Jaws of a Tiger" which, attributed to Van Dyck, was exhibited at Leeds in 1868, No. 737, from the Nostell Collection in the catalogue of which, of 1915, it is No. 302. (See Waagen: "Art Treasures," III, 336.)

SIR THOMAS LAWRENCE, P.R.A.

ENGLISH: 1769—1830

190—PORTRAIT OF JOHN PHILIP KEMBLE AS "HAMLET"

Height, 33 inches; width, 22 inches

SMALL full-length figure, wearing black doublet, hose, long cloak and hat, and the blue ribbon of an order. He stands by Yorick's grave and holds the skull in his left hand. Dark background, with the moon shining in the left distance.

John Philip Kemble (1757-1823), son of Roger Kemble, manager of an itinerant company of actors, first appeared in London in 1783, when he played the part of Hamlet. He was a brother of Mrs. Siddons and Charles Kemble. Portraits of him are numerous. Armstrong, "Lawrence," p. 142, gives details of five portraits of him as Hamlet. The outstanding example is that (117 inches by 57 inches) exhibited at the Royal Academy in 1801; it is now in the National Portrait Gallery, No. 694, and is reproduced in Cust's illustrated catalogue of that gallery, vol. II, p. 43. The present small picture seems to be in all essentials of detail, but not in technique or style, similar to it. The National Portrait Gallery original by Lawrence was engraved by S. W. Reynolds, and J. Bromley. O'Donoghue lists seven engravings of Kemble in this character by different artists after Lawrence.

From the T. J. Blakeslee Collection.

193—PORTRAIT OF A LADY WITH A HURDY-GURDY

Height, 32½ inches; width, 25 inches

HALF length; seated; turned toward the right. In a white dress, figured with flowers and sprigs of foliage; short sleeves with lace insertion. Kerchief tied loosely under the chin. Red flowers in her powdered hair. Holding on her lap a hurdy-gurdy.

Purchased from Kraemer Bros., Paris, 1901.

Property of JAMES A. KINSELLA.

This would seem to be out of Spain a very early instance of the inclusion in a portrait of a hurdy-gurdy, or musical instrument with strings sounded by the revolution of a rosined wheel. The earliest literary reference to such an instrument, in the original and correct sense of the term, is that of Lady Luxborough, who in a letter in 1749 admits that it "pretends to no more wit or beauty than a hurdy gurdy does to harmony."

219—MAUA, A SAMOAN

Height, 52½ inches; width, 38¼ inches

THE picture is described and explained by the artist in a long inscription at the lower right, as follows:

"This is a sketch of Maua, one of Secumame's men and one of our crew in the two trips around the islands of Savan and Upola. Maua is not tattooed (so that his legs are not bluish, looking as if silk [blue-black] drawers were worn). He ought to be tattooed, but I think is afraid of the pain. He will make believe that it is uncivilized or perhaps will trot out the Church, for he is a leader in prayer—in any small deviltry as well. He is not handsome, as you see, but he is intelligent. I thought I could get him to sit on that account, as it is difficult to get natives to pose well, but he could hardly keep quiet a minute. I had only a few hours to paint this in, and was at work when the call was made for our boat to leave for Tahiti. Hence, unfinished."

Maua is seated on the ground, in a green loin-dress, beneath a natural arch of greenery and red flowers.
